Coach's Corner – Little moments of relief!

Good afternoon friends and families of MCS,

Twas the second day of online learning when all through the house, three loud boys were stirring, much louder than a mouse...

(And that's the end of my poetic talent).

As I entered one of my Zoom meetings today, my three-year-old son crashed my makeshift home workspace for what felt like the hundredth time. His daycare has been shut down for two weeks. Although challenging at home, I can't help but smile as he runs through the house declaring that he is Pac-man chasing monsters. Since I needed him to be quiet for a few moments, I made him the temporary principal of the school. He had fun being the boss for a few minutes.

In times like this it's even more important to find the little moments of relief in between meetings, school, and housework. I pray your day will include moments of restitution and joy. Special thank you to our teachers for their hard work this week preparing for online learning on this short notice. Also, thank you parents and grandparents for supporting online learning as best as you can.

If you are able and would like to join me at 1:30pm in conversation and prayer tomorrow, please click here for my Zoom link.

Blessings,

Mr. Martin
